

Contacting Campers

Campers truly love to receive letters from home. They receive their mail each day after lunch and always look forward to this time, and receiving a hand written letter is very special. Since "snail mail" can take three to five days for delivery, preparation (send letters even before camp begins) and patience are necessary - but a hand-written letter is often kept for years. Take the time to write a letter, we think this is one of the most memorable parts of a camping experience.

It is acceptable to send packages to your camper, but we ask for your help in using good judgment in doing so. Remember food and candy is not allowed in the cabins and some cabin mates may not receive any mail or packages.
