What makes RRR Special

Shanna says the size is perfect, not too big, but also not too small! She thinks the location with all the hills and trees also makes it perfect. She also thinks the people make the place, and believes the type of girl that comes to RRR is what makes it unique. Girls who go to RRR are always up for a fun time and want to grow independence!

Rye says

Taylor believes it's the counselors and the people who come to camp here. She loves that the counselors are dedicated to RRR and helping make memories. She thinks the girls who come to camp and love RRR so much also make it feel like a fun, welcoming, and loving place for girls to spend their summers.

This year RRR got a lot of rain!
The whole camp was so wet, so we had to change our classes. It was a crazy rain storm.

We had to play games in the 49er sand
Some swam in the cold pool. Our canteen time was so wet and muddy campers were covered in muddy clothes. Our rest time was so cozy with the rain every one didn't wanna wake up

CANDYLAND

On Thursday the theme was Candyland for the day, so all of camp dressed up as everything sugary and sweet. For breakfast the gridstake was decorated with all the different areas on the Candyland board. The whole camp was filled with pastel rainbows and glitter.

For lunch everyone got ring pops! And at dinner Taylor put out a big bowl of candy for everyone to share. There were toothy rolls and sour patch kids!

For the evening program campers teamed up with other girls from all over the camp and went around to different areas of Candyland to play fun games and compete for the top prize (cotton candy!). Some of the stations included characters like Grandma Nut, Mr. Mints, and Plumpy. Campers competed in activities like egg carry, hopping with a ball between their knees, and shooting a soccer ball with a pool noodle. The night was tons of fun and some of the winners were Ada, Elsa, Caroline, Quinn and a couple other girls. Elsa and Caroline hopped across the low road with a ball under their legs in just three seconds.
