This is to inform you that professionally trained mental health clinicians will be in attendance at camp to provide counseling services as needed. If you have any questions or concerns about these interventions you may feel free to contact Trudy Boulter at (720) 777-8295. These services are consistent with counseling that has been provided at other Children's Hospital Colorado Burn Camps programs and are seen as compatible with a camp program focused on rehabilitation. Our goal is to make counseling services available. The degree to which Campers avail themselves of these services is of their choosing.

Information shared is legally confidential, except as required by law. There are exceptions to confidentiality which would be discussed with you should they arise. The exceptions to confidentiality include threats of serious harm to self or others, as in suicide or grave disability. We are required by law to report suspicions or concerns about child abuse and neglect.

There are state regulatory agencies, which governs the practice of psychology and social work. If you have any concerns or complaints you can contact the Colorado Board of Psychologist Examiners, 1560 Broadway Suite 1340, Denver, Colorado 80202, telephone number (303) 894-7766 or the Mental Health Occupations Grievance Board, 1525 Sherman Street, Room 128, Denver, Colorado 80203, telephone number (303) 866-3248. In a professional relationship, sexual intimacy is never appropriate and should always be reported to the Ethics Board.

I have been informed of the counselor's degrees and credentials. I have read the preceding information and understand my rights.
