

Charlotte Country Day School – Summer Programs
COVID-19 Parent Waiver

The coronavirus disease 2019, called COVID-19, has reached pandemic levels worldwide and presents a serious health risk. The most severe illness occurs in adults 65 years and older and people of any age with serious underlying medical problems.

COVID-19 is a new disease and scientists are still learning about how it spreads. Current data suggests that the virus spreads very easily between people.

I understand and acknowledge that although CCDS is taking appropriate precautions related to the transmission of this disease, my child may be exposed to or contract this or any other contagious disease during the course of School activities. I understand, acknowledge, and accept those risks.

As consideration for my child’s admission to The Summer Program at Charlotte Country Day School, I agree to waive and release any claims against the School or its employees related to my child’s contraction of this virus or other contagious disease, including any claims that CCDS was negligent or did not exercise reasonable care.
