Week 1 Highlights!

Please take some time to read about the activities the campers have done this week and what is to come!

Hello! My name is Rochelle and I am the Art instructor! This week the campers did two main activities in art: tissue paper creations and painting. Some of the groups created rainbows by gluing cotton balls and various colors of tissue paper, while some made pictures from their imagination. For painting, the younger groups learned how to use pointillism, or tiny dots of paint, while the older groups created monochromatic pictures. Next week the campers will get to make butterflies and flowers out of coffee filters, use watercolors to create fun designs, and do a fun 4th of July craft to celebrate the upcoming weekend!

Hello! My name is Geoffrey and I am the Canoe instructor! This week has been great! The girls focused on learning the basics of canoeing. Next week, I plan on working with the girls to improve their skills and help them navigate the lake!

Hello! My name is Grace and I am the Dance instructor! This week we played movement name games, created choreography, and learned new dance movements. Next week, I am looking forward to teaching some ballet movement in dance class!

Hello! My name is Ava and I am the Drama instructor! The campers had a great time in drama this week! Younger campers learned stage directions and the importance of listening in theatre, and we also began to work on improv! Younger students played short-form improv games like Bus Stop and Freeze, while our oldest campers enjoyed a long-form murder mystery activity. Next week we will begin to talk about movement, as well as motivation, intentions, and objectives in scenes!

Hello! My name is Sara and I am the Music instructor! This week we played musical Pictionary where campers had to guess what was being drawn before it was finished and completed a scavenger hunt looking for musical facts. I am looking forward to next week as I have lots of exciting outdoor games planned!

Hello! My name is Dakota and I am the Nature and Science instructor! The campers did a couple different activities in science this week. They started out their first week of camp doing an experiment to test if certain items will dissolve in water. They ended the week making towers out of marshmallows, straws, and toothpicks as a team-building exercise. Some groups played nature bingo outside as well. Next week the campers will build aluminum boats to learn about density. They will also make their own oobleck!

Hello! My name is Riley and I am the Sports instructor! This week in sports we learned about teamwork and the meaning and importance of working together towards a common goal. Some of our favorite activities included soccer, relay races, capture the flag, and volleyball. Next week we are looking forward to learning more about fitness and different exercises to keep our body active and healthy. It was a great week in sports!

Hello! My name is Kayla and I am the Yoga instructor! This past week we introduced some easy and simple poses and worked on mindfulness. Next week campers will get the chance to learn some new poses and increase their focus on a mindful body.
