COMMUNICATION OF HEALTH/BEHAVIORAL-RELATED CONCERNS DURING CAMP (HW10):

Girl Scouts of Utah will communicate with families in one of two ways during their campers stay at camp. For all basic first aid, mild to moderate homesickness, and mild to moderate behavioral issues, Girl Scouts of Utah will communicate to parents/guardians through a form included in the camper's take home packet they will receive during check-out. For all first aid where it is recommend the camper sees a physician, severe or ongoing homesickness, severe or continued behavioral issues, Girl Scouts of Utah will call the parents/guardians (then the emergency contact if no one has been reached) to discuss the situation and make an action plan to support the camper. For all cases where access to EMS is time-sensitive, parents/guardians will be called while in transit to the ER.

FIRST AID AT CAMP:

All camps have a qualified Health Supervisor on site with a Level 2 First Aid certification or higher. Camp administers basic first aid only. A doctor is on-call and medical facilities are readily available. In the event of an emergency the camp will either transport the camper to emergency services or activate EMS.

CAMPER MEDICATION:

All prescription medication, over-the-counter & homeopathic medical treatments are in their original containers and will be turned into the Health Supervisor during the check-in process today. This includes all medications, ointments, creams & oils, and so forth. This is for the safety of our campers and required for our accreditation process. The only exception to this rule is for albuterol inhalers and epi-pens; please discuss these with the Health Supervisor.

CAMPER CELL PHONE:

Girl Scouts of Utah does not allow campers to have cell phones at camp. Sending your child to camp with a cell phone may interfere with her ability (and yours) to build a trusting and independent relationship. Any cell phone brought to camp will be secured in the camp office until your child returns home. Campers are not allowed to use the camp phone; however, you are welcome to contact the Camp Director at any time to check on how your child is doing. By initialing you are stating your camper does not have a cell phone with her.
